

Speciality code and name	035.04 Philology
Specialization	035.04 Philology. Germanic Languages and Literatures (including Translation).
Qualification level	Second (master`s degree)
Professional competencies and skills	Professional activity of the graduate includes: pedagogical activity: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - conducting language and literature training sessions and doing extra curricular work at general, secondary and higher educational institutions; - preparation of methodological materials for conducting sessions and extracurricular activities on the basis of existing methods; - the dissemination and popularization of philological knowledge and educational work with pupils and students. applied activities: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - collection and processing (including organization, processing, storage, transformation and generalization) of language and literary facts, using traditional methods and modern information technologies; - creation of various types of texts (oral presentation, review, precis, summary, main speech, memorandum, report and other documents; official, journalistic, advertising texts, etc.) on the basis of standard methodologies and operating norms; work with documents at institutions or enterprises; - finalization and processing (proofreading, editing, commenting, systematizing, generalizing, summarizing) of various types of texts; preparation of reviews; - participation in compiling dictionaries and encyclopedias, publishing periodicals, working with archival materials, etc.; - translation of different types of texts (mostly scientific and publicistic as well as documents) from foreign languages and into foreign languages; annotating and summarizing documents, scientific and artistic works in a foreign language; - implementation of oral and written interpersonal and mass types of communications, including intercultural (communication of linguistic personalities belonging to various linguocultural communities) and international ones. research activities: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - analysis and interpretation of particular linguistic, literature and communication phenomena and processes, artistic works and other types of texts including inference of the reasoned statements of the findings and conclusions on the basis of the existing scientific concepts; - collection of scientific information, preparation of reviews, summaries, writing essays; - researches in selected fields of philology and other humanities with implementation of the received theoretical and practical knowledge; - participation in scientific debates and defence procedures of scientific papers of various levels; delivering reports and notifications on the research; - oral, written, and virtual (placing in informational networks) presentation of the materials of one's own research. project activities: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - development of projects related to the support of language culture of the population; - development of philological projects for advertising and PR-campaigns; - development of projects to create exposure for literary and literary and art museums; - development of projects related to the creative activities of pupils within the groups of children's creativity, scripting literary games, literary-dramatic and poetic festivals. organizational and management activities: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - preparation of means and materials necessary for the aforementioned activities; organization of independent labor process; - participation in organizing and conducting various types of seminars, conferences, business and official meetings, consultations, negotiations as well as in the preparation of materials for publication, etc. Master of Philology shall have the following competences: a) cultural:

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> – to be familiar with the basic studies in liberal and socio-economic sciences, to be able to analyze socially significant problems and processes in the scientific prospect, to be able to use the methods of these sciences in various types of professional and social activities; – to know the ethical and legal norms that regulate relationships between people, human’s attitude to the environment; – to understand the processes and phenomena, the possibilities of the modern scientific research methods and to know these methods at the level, required to solve practical problems arising in professional activities; – to possess the advanced level of thinking, to be able to clearly and logically express one’s thoughts, both in oral and written form; – to possess the skills of scientific organization of labour, be aware of the possibilities and methods of applying computer technology in one’s professional activities; – to be able to independently acquire new knowledge, to evaluate critically the experience gained from the recent achievements in scientific methodology and social practices. – to understand the basic problems of one’s profession, disciplines that define the specific sphere of one’s activities; – to have sufficient training for independent creation and practical usage of various methods of phenomena and processes analysis. b) professional: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - ability to demonstrate the knowledge of basic principles and concepts in the field of theory and history of the major language, literature, theory of communications, philological analysis and text interpretation, to have an idea of the history, current state and prospects of the development of Philology; - possession of basic skills of collection and analysis of linguistic and literary facts using traditional methods and modern information technologies; - fluency in the major language in its literary form; - knowledge of the basic methods and techniques of different types of oral and written communication in the major language.
Mode of study	Full-time, part-time admission requirements
Duration of studies	1 year and 10 months
Educational background requirements	Persons who have gained Senior Secondary Certificate of Secondary Education and have Certificates of the Ukrainian Center for Educational Quality Assessment in competitive subjects stipulated by the Admission Regulations of the National University of Ostroh Academy.
Scope and structure of the degree program	120 credits, including: compulsory subjects: 51 credits; selective subjects: 33 credits; pre-graduation practice: 21 credits; qualification paper: 15 credits.
Compulsory subjects: Methodology of Teaching the Disciplines by Profession, Methodology and Organization of Linguistic Research, Linguohistoriography, Intercultural Communication, The Basics of Foreign Culture Communication, English, Second Foreign Language, Modern Interpretation of Literature Texts of the English-speaking Countries, Theoretical and Practical Problems of Modern Translation, Discourse Analysis, Third Foreign Language.
Selective subjects: Language Management in Business and Tourism major: Special Study Courses in English, Second and Third Foreign Languages, Effective Telephone Communication and Presentation, Records Management in the Hospitality Industry, Modern Office Computer Equipment, Workplace Cooperation; Educational Management major: Special Study Courses in English, Second and Third Foreign Languages, The Basics of Professional Communication, Modern Methods of Foreign Language Teaching, Computer Information Technologies in Education, Peculiarities of Teaching Professionally-Oriented English; Translation Management major: Special Study Courses in English, Second and Third Foreign Languages, Translation Editing, Computer-Assisted Translation Systems (CAT tools), Terminology Management, Translation Projects Management.

Language Technologies major:
Special Study Courses in English, Second and Third Foreign Languages, Corpus Linguistics, Psycholinguistics, Linguistic Relativity Theories, Linguistic Expertise.

Scientific research training

Pre-graduation practice

Qualification paper